

ABSTRACT

A system is provided with circuitry to signal the system being in an AC
5 failure state, and to negate at least one of a power button event signal and a device wake event signal, if the system is in the AC failure state.